Did You Know?

TNF-alpha is a key protein your immune health releases in response to occasional physiological stressors, such as intense exercise, high-fat/high-sugar diet, poor sleep, mental stress, or exposure to environmental threats. TNF-alpha is released by the immune structure to exert protective functions and regeneration. But, when TNF-alpha is not shut down at the appropriate time, this continued defense response places additional stress on your body systems, causing negative outcomes such as advanced aging, fat gain, muscle loss, and low energy. It's important to keep TNF-alpha under control and create a cellular environment that helps get your body back into balance.*
