Vitamins & Minerals

We all know vitamins and minerals are good for us, but do we really know why? Vitamins and minerals work together to perform hundreds of functions throughout your body. Many vitamins and minerals are 'essential,' which means your body doesn't naturally create them and you must get them through food or supplements. We've got some great products this month with essential vitamins and minerals that are the perfect companions to our 4Life Transfer Factor® core products.*

Zinc Factor

Remember how we were talking about those essential nutrients? Zinc is one of them! Zinc, alone, aids in the normal production and function of key immune system cells, like T cells. Plus, your body also uses zinc to build protein and preserve DNA, which is essential for healthy cell function. Your body can't build healthy cells without zinc. When you combine zinc with the ionic silver in Zinc Factor, you get zinc with an immune system zip!*

Multiplex

There are eight different essential B vitamins. You may recognize some of these vitamins by different names, like thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, pantothenic acid, B6, biotin, folate, and B12. 4Life Multiplex has 21 vitamins and minerals to support overall wellness, including all eight essential B vitamins!*

Life C Chewable

Vitamin C strengthens your immune system in a few ways: first, it helps your body produce more white blood cells and keeps those white blood cells functioning effectively. Vitamin C also promotes healthy antioxidant levels. Antioxidants help protect your body against damaging cells called free radicals. Life C Chewable contains seven different complex forms of vitamin C to help increase your nutrient absorption and maximize benefits throughout your body.*
