At 4Life®, we certify 4Life Transfer Factor products. We pledge to uphold the highest standards of manufacturing and product design for every product we sell. Our commitment to you is that we will always strive to create products of the utmost quality and efficacy. That way, when you purchase a 4Life Transfer Factor product, you can rest assured that you're getting the very best. In fact, we guarantee it.

We take current Good Manufacturing Practices (cGMP) guidelines for dietary supplements seriously, as indicated by our considerable investment in resources and personnel. From design to completion, we closely monitor our products through every step of the manufacturing process and a product's life cycle. We ensure the quality of our ingredients, packaging materials, and finished products through a strict documentation and testing protocol throughout the entire manufacturing process and over the course of a product's shelf life.

We guarantee the identity, purity, strength, and composition of each of our dietary supplements:

Identity: Prior to using each raw material, we perform testing to certify raw ingredient suppliers, validate the proper identity of each ingredient that goes into a product, verify that the finished product conforms with a previously approved reference standard, and ensure the finished product is of the highest quality for release.

Purity: Each raw material and finished product is put through a series of extensive safety tests for contaminants and adulterants, including pesticides, heavy metals, and microbiological organisms.

Strength: Our quality and analytical teams perform strength and potency testing on all ingredients and finished products to ensure our specifications are met from the moment we release a product and through its expiry date.

Composition: Each ingredient is weighed and measured properly and each batch is manufactured according to the product specification guidelines and formulation. Lastly, we compare each batch produced to standards set by the 4Life Research and Development department.

You can place your trust in our sound science and quality because we guarantee the identity, purity, strength, and composition of every 4Life product. That's our commitment to you.
